SKETCH OF THE LIFE OF JAMES RUSSELL LOWELL ELMWOOD About half a mile from the Craigie House in Cambridge, Mass., on the road leading to the old town of Watertown, is Elinwood, a spacious square house set amongst lilac and syringa bushes, and overtopped by elms. Pleasant fields are on either side, and from the windows one may look out on the Charles River winding its way among the marshes. The house itself is one of a group which before the war for independence belonged to Boston merchants and officers of the crown who refused to take the side of the revolutionary party. Tory Row was the name given to the broad winding road on which the houses stood. Great farms and gardens were attached to them, and some sign of their roomy ease still remains. The estates fell into the hands...
